

NEBRASKA ACADEMY FOR EARLY CHILDHOOD RESEARCH

JOIN NAECR AS A STUDENT RESEARCHER!

The Nebraska Academy for Early Childhood Research (NAECR) is housed within the Nebraska Center for Research on Children, Youth, Families and Schools (CYFS) at UNL's College of Education and Human Sciences. NAECR brings together researchers from various disciplines from across the University of Nebraska system.

NAECR student researchers have access to a variety of training and education events. They also have unique opportunities to network and collaborate with other students interested in early childhood research.

NAECR STUDENT RESEARCHERS HAVE ACCESS TO:

Student Research Opportunities

The student research opportunities website features available positions for graduate and undergraduate students seeking work and/or research experience in early childhood research.

Early Childhood Courses*

The early childhood courses page lists graduate courses related to early childhood that will be offered in the future, and is a helpful tool in planning your course schedule.

Double check with your university department and/or the schedule of classes to verify the content and timing of specific course offerings.*

NAECR News

This twice-monthly newsletter features the latest University of Nebraska publications, funding opportunities (including student funding), conferences and events related to early childhood.

NAECR Event Series

Each semester, NAECR hosts an ongoing series of Knowledge and Networking events.

NAECR Knowledge events provide opportunities to learn more about the latest training and tools for early childhood research, such as OneDrive features and data security, video data collection, administration and coding, and more.

NAECR Networking events bring together researchers and stakeholders to make connections and learn about the latest early childhood research at the University of Nebraska.

Community

NAECR student researchers are able to connect and collaborate with other student researchers exploring early childhood at the University of Nebraska.
